Definition

Sex and Relationship Education is not just learning about growing up, changes and reproduction. It is also about enabling children to make and maintain relationships with others, to understand about human sexuality and to feel good about themselves and the choices they make. This involves helping children to gain knowledge, develop skills and form positive beliefs and attitudes.

All academies, regardless of phase, will teach SRE through the Science curriculum from Key Stage 1 and as part of an academy's assembly & pastoral programme as appropriate. These curricula will ensure coverage of the following core elements:

1. Knowledge and Understanding including: emotional, social and physical aspects of growing up, puberty, reproduction and pregnancy, similarities and differences between males and females, parts of the human body including the male and female reproductive parts, gender stereotyping and discrimination, different families, different types of relationships, healthy and unhealthy relationships and where to get help if needed.

2. Personal and Social Skills including: talking and listening to others, managing emotions, making friends and managing friendships, forming and maintaining loving, caring and respectful relationships, developing self-respect and empathy for others, respecting the differences between people, resilience to cope with change, making responsible and safe decisions, including on-line.

3. Attitudes and Values including: feeling positive about growing up, the importance of respect, care and love, the value of family life, the importance of stable and loving relationships, including marriage (both heterosexual and gay) and civil partnerships, respect for rights and responsibilities in relationships, acceptance of difference and diversity, promoting gender equality.

Sex and Relationship Education Policy

Each academy must have a policy which sets out clearly:

- A definition of Sex and Relationship Education (SRE)
- How SRE is provided and who is responsible for providing it
- How SRE is monitored and evaluated
- How the academy ensures that its SRE offer supports confidentiality and child protection legislation as appropriate
- How the academy's teaching of SRE underpins the Trust's policy on Equal Opportunities
- How the academy will respond to any complaints made in relation to the SRE curriculum
- Information on parents' right to withdraw their child

Each pupil can expect:

- To have their views treated sensitively and with respect
- To access education related to forming healthy, positive relationships
- To access a curriculum which teaches them to keep themselves safe

The Trust will:

- Check that all schools have an SRE policy in place which covers all the points above.

National Curriculum Science

At Forest Lodge Academy will deliver session on hygiene and bodily changes to pupils in Year 5 with parental permission. We will deliver SRE sessions to pupils in Year 6 with parental permission and consultation. However all children in Key Stage 1 and Key Stage 2 must be taught the following as part of the National Curriculum Science Orders. Parents do not have the right to withdraw their child/children from these elements. Key Stage 1

1. b) that animals including humans, move, feed, grow, and use their senses and reproduce.
2. a) to recognise and compare the main external parts of the bodies of humans and reproduce.

f) that humans and animals can reproduce offspring and these grow into adults.

Key Stage 2

Resources used to teach SRE include the 'Betty' programme and CBBC programme "Operation Ouch- Don't panic about puberty"

Parental Consent

Details of the schools SRE and hygiene taught programme is available to parents. Parental consent is required for non-science SRE lessons. The school informs parents when aspects of the SRE programme will be taught (Summer 2) and provides opportunities for parents to view the resources that will be used. Parents have the right to withdraw their child/children from those aspect of SRE not including in the National Curriculum Science Orders. However this rarely happens, by working in partnership with parents, they recognise the importance of this aspect of their child's education.

Child Protection / Confidentiality

Teachers need to be aware that effective sex and relationship education, which brings an understanding of what is and is not acceptable in a relationship, may lead to disclosure of a child protection issue.

The staff member will inform the Head Teacher /Designated Child Protection person in line with the LEA procedures for child protection.

A member of staff cannot promise confidentiality if concerns exist.

Dealing with difficult questions

Ground rules are essential to provide an agreed structure to answering sensitive or difficult questions. This framework facilitates the use of an anonymous question box as a distancing technique.

Teachers will endeavour to answer questions as honestly as possible but if faced with a question they do not feel comfortable answering within the classroom, provision would be made to meet the individual child's needs.

Use of visitors

“Visitors should complement but never substitute or replace planned provision. It is the PSHE co-ordinator's and teacher's responsibility to plan the curriculum and lessons.”

Sex and Relationship Guidance DfEE 0116/2000 P 29 6.11

When appropriate, visitors such as the school nurse may be involved in the delivery of sex and relationship education, particularly in Key Stage 2.

Children with special needs

Teaching and resources will be differentiated as appropriate to address the needs of these children in order for them to have full access to the content of sex and relationship education.

Monitoring and Evaluation

Monitoring is the responsibility of the head teacher, named governor and teacher with responsibility for sex and relationship education.

The school will assess the effectiveness of the aims, content and methods in promoting students' learning by lesson observation, sampling teachers planning, questionnaires to teachers and children and feedback from parents.

The effectiveness of the SRE programme will be evaluated by assessing children's learning and implementing change if required.

Any change will be reflected in the school prospectus.

SRE issues will be included in the induction programme for all new members of staff.
